👤 PERFIL

I am a front-end developer with experience in creating interactive and responsive interfaces, using technologies such as HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and React. I have a strong focus on user experience and performance, always aiming to build intuitive and scalable solutions. In addition to my front-end skills, I have basic knowledge in SQL and data analysis, with experience in simple queries and data manipulation, which allows me to effectively contribute to data integration with applications. I am constantly learning to enhance my knowledge in data analysis, seeking to apply this knowledge to optimize processes and assist in decision-making.

💼 PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Front End Developer at Agile Content, São Paulo
August 2021 - present

I collaborated with the design and back-end team to create responsive and engaging web interfaces. I implemented design specifications using HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. I worked alongside senior developers to implement features and fixes in existing web projects. I also gained proficiency in frameworks like React and Redux, implementing simple components and interactive pages.
